A telephone conference was held with the parties in this matter on February 24, 2011. The parties advised that the case was progressing satisfactorily. They have a site visit set and will be making their expert disclosures. Plaintiff's counsel advised that he might need a slight extension on expert disclosures. However, the parties did not feel that a change to the scheduling order was necessary at the present time.

Plaintiff's counsel advised that the Plaintiff had recovered from the accident about as much as she would. The major complication was that she contracted pneumonia while at Vanderbilt and this caused significant difficulties with a pre-existing pulmonary condition.

The recommendation for a February or March 2012 trial date remains. The parties were reminded of the possibility of consenting to trial by the Magistrate Judge. In any case, at the request of the parties the Magistrate Judge stands ready to assist with alternative dispute resolution at any time.

It is so ORDERED.
